It is time to wake up Ibe.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

This is a large building with a lot of junk.

It must have been a supermarket.

I found a shopping cart,

but it is unusable because the wheels have been removed.

Cool! I found a box of matches.

Now i can light some candles or make a small fire to cook on.

Ibe puts the box of matches in her backpack.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

This looks like a holy place.

It must have been some kind of place for worship.

The floor is littered with fragments of sculptures.

Ibe ponders a little bit about what kind of rituals took place here.

Hey, this can come in handy.

I found some candles.

Now i can go looking for stuff in the dark.

Ibe carefully puts the candles in her backpack.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

This must have been a police station.

It must have been well guarded once,

but know you can just walk in and out.

There ain't no cops around here anymore.

I was looking for this!

A crowbar!

Now i can break stuff open.

Ibe puts the crowbar in her backpack.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

This place looks really expensive.

I can still smell the money that flowed through this place.

There must be a clue here about where i can find other people.

Ibe investigates the building further.

I found a heavy cellar door.

I wonder what is behind it.

Should i explore it?

With all her might Ibe pushes against the door.

The door opens with a lot of screnching.

Behind the door is a vast darkness.

I feel like this darkness is pulling me in,

but i can't see anything...

Ibe strikes a match.

A small yellow flame giggles at her.

She holds it near the fuse of a candle.

Some sparks fly off, but the candle burns and illuminates her path.

Ibe follows a few staircases down into the cellar.

There is a great silence in those spaces.

I almost get tinnitus.

Ibe pauses for a minute.

I can see something in the corner there.

It looks like a vault.

There must be something really precious in there.

Ibe swings the crowbar like a majorette stick.

She jams the crowbar behind the lock of the vault.

She pulls and pulls. Almost breaking the crowbar.

Open sesame!

The vault door breaks open...

There is just a piece of paper inside.

Ibe inspects the piece of paper.

It seems to be a golden ticket.

It has the words ESCAPE TICKET on it.

There is also a strange symbol on it.

I saw this symbol once in a museum or an art gallery.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

This place looks like it once had a cultural function.

It must have been a museum or an art gallery.

The rooms are mostly empty, but here and there are some broken artefacts covered in mold.

I found a poster...

with the same symbol as the one on the golden ticket.

It says: come to the transit station with your golden ticket and get ready to escape to a safe zone with other humans.

Searching for Ibe on Erath...

I seem to be near some kind of transit station.

There are a some burned out vehicles around here.

A little further there is a road.

It seems like it is the only road here that isn't buried under the rubble.

The road could still be in use...

Suddenly Ibe sees something moving in the distance.

It's a vehicle!

It's coming this way!

The vehicle stops right in front of her.

A door opens and a man in a red uniform comes out.

Do you have a ticket?

Yes, i do!

Then climb on board!

Ibe climbs on board.

The door closes and the vehicle slowly comes back into motion.

It takes Ibe to her new home, where she meets lots of new friends.

THE END

restart game